Advance Care Planning: A Gift to Yourself and Your Loved Ones

It is never too soon to plan for your care in the event of a serious illness. Join us for a free informational session on end-of-life care options and advance care planning. At the session, hear about the medicalization of the end of life and its implications. Learn about the various care options for those at the end of life, how to identify your wishes, and how to make sure that they are respected. Check out free online tools for advance care planning in the event of a dementia diagnosis or contracting COVID-19. Finally, find out about the advocacy work happening in your community and across the country.
